

A Briefing Session for the New English Course International Graduate Course in Global Environmental Studies

International Graduate Course provides educational programs for students who need to have degrees without mastering Japanese. All classes and administration for dissertation in this course are conducted in English. The curriculum consists of three fields, Economics and Business Administration for the Environment, Laws and Policies and Sociology for the Environment and Science and Engineering for the Environment.

One of the strategies of this course is to enhance the abilities of students to resolve the current environmental issues with practical and disciplinary programs provided in this course. Moreover, we intend to collaborate with the Graduate School of Science and Technology and the Graduate School of Global Studies so as to create a curriculum that is interdisciplinary in nature. We will have a briefing session for this new course as follows.

Date : April 27, 2011

Time : 17:20 - 18:30

Place : Conference Room 2-510,
Yotsuya Campus, Sophia University

We welcome undergraduate foreign students studying not only in Sophia University but also in other universities.

You can confirm the details of this new course in the following web site.
<http://www.genv.sophia.ac.jp/english/>

