

Sophia University Symposium

Sustainable Regional Development to Achieve UN SDGs by Utilization of Forest's Ecosystem Services

Date: Sunday, June 17th, 2018 15:00~17:40
(Doors open at 14:30)

Venue: Sophia University Yotsuya campus
Building 6 (Sophia Tower) 1st Floor, Room 101

Japanese/English with simultaneous translation
Free Admission
Pre-Event Registration Required

Jointly Conducted with
"Nationwide Gathering to Link Forests and Citizens 2018 in Tokyo;
"Yama", "Hito" and "Machi" Are Changing!!"
For Registration: <https://bit.ly/2H1SnUU>

Strategies for sustainable regional development from global perspectives of forest ecosystem services

Keynote 1: Mr. Peter Besseau, Chair of the Bureau for UNFF12

15:10-15:40

Toward Achievement of SDGs and UN Strategic Forest Plan. How We Can Promote Sustainable Regional Development by Conserving and Utilizing Ecosystem Services? Lessons of 20+ Years' Experience of International Model Forest Network (IMFN).

Keynote 2: Dr. Erin Kelly, Associate Professor, Humboldt State Univ., USA

15:40-16:10

The Case of California/USA –Promoting Sustainable Regional Development Through Conserving Utilizing Ecosystem Services by Means of Forest Carbon Trading

Panel Discussion 16:20-17:30

Ms. Rujira Pongpluthong, Director, Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment (MNRE), Thailand

Mr. Hironori Nukui, Director,
Forest Management Office, Yokohama City

Dr. Naoki Adachi, CEO, Response Ability Inc.

Mr. Shinkichi Mizutani, Executive Secretary, More-Trees

Ms. Aiko Ihara, President, Tap & Sap/ MAPLE BASE

Dr. Shingo Shibata, Professor, Sophia Univ. (Moderator)

Registration

Co-Organized by Graduate School of Global Environmental Studies (GES) & Environmental Research Institute, Sophia Univ.

Supported by Sophia Univ. Human Resources Center for International Cooperation (SHRIC), etc.

For Info: jimu@genv.sophia.ac.jp (GES)

For Registration: <https://eipo.jp/sophia/seminars/>